

Task 1

Task 2

Environment:

Pandora, green/teal forest

Paragraph intro to visitors:

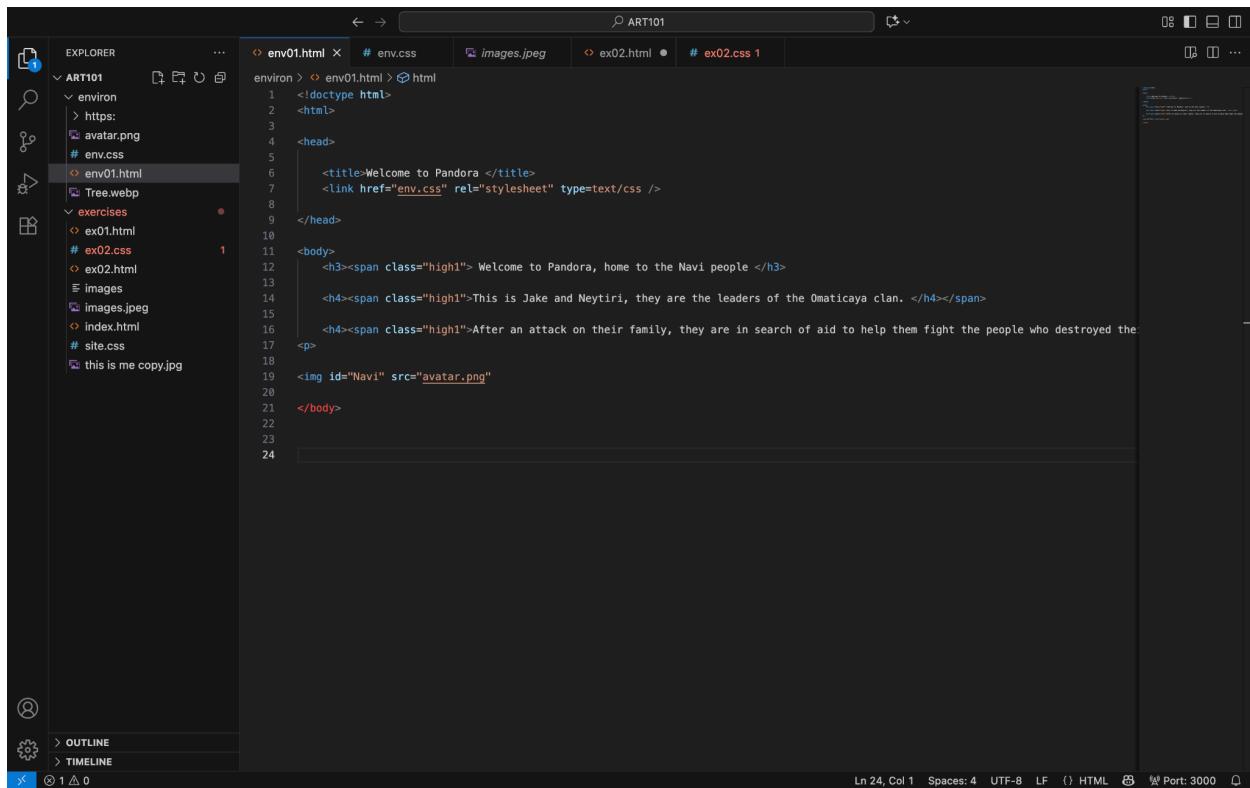

Welcome to Pandora, home to the Navi people

This is Jake and Neytiri, they are leaders of the omaticaya clan

Character:

Jake Sully and Neytiri

1. Index.html editor

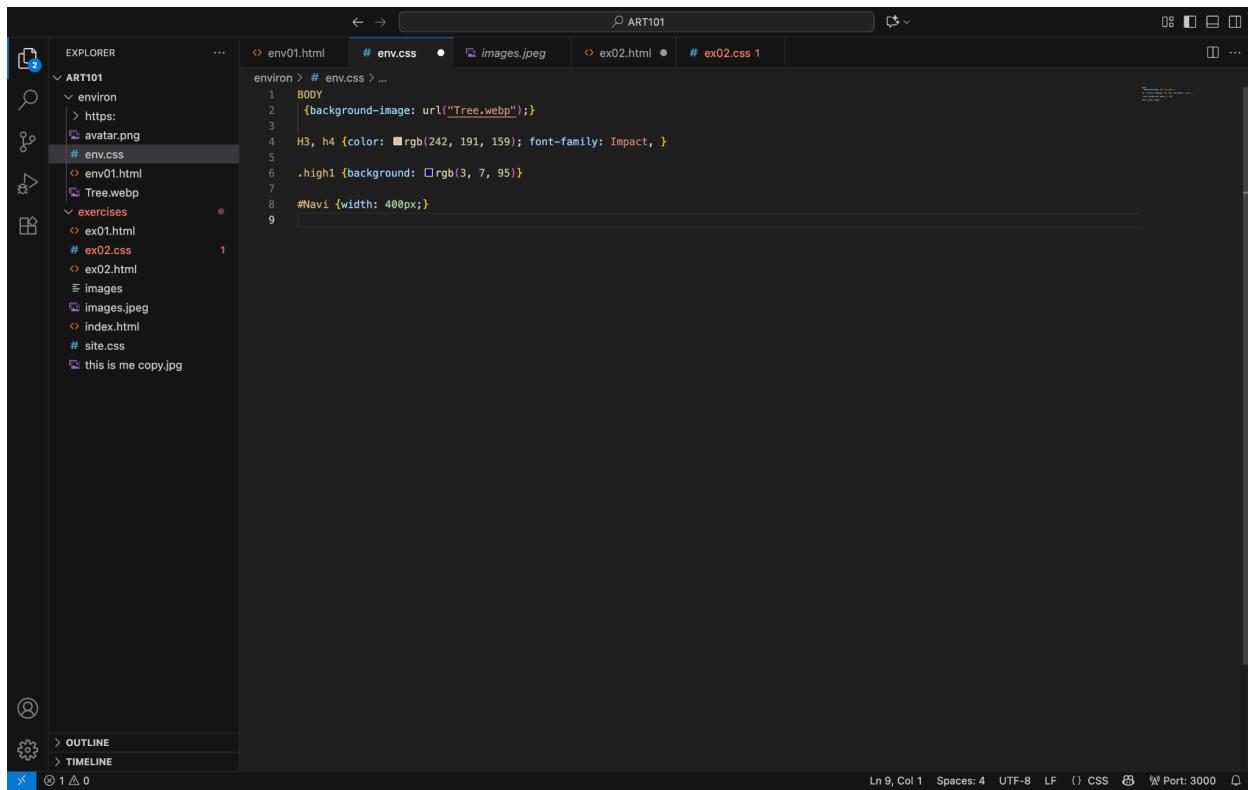

```
<!DOCTYPE html>
<html>
<head>
<title>Welcome to Pandora
<link href="env.css" rel="stylesheet" type="text/css" />
</head>
<body>
<h3> Welcome to Pandora, home to the Navi people </h3>
<h4>This is Jake and Neytiri, they are the leaders of the Omaticaya clan. </h4>
<h4>After an attack on their family, they are in search of aid to help them fight the people who destroyed the </h4>

</body>

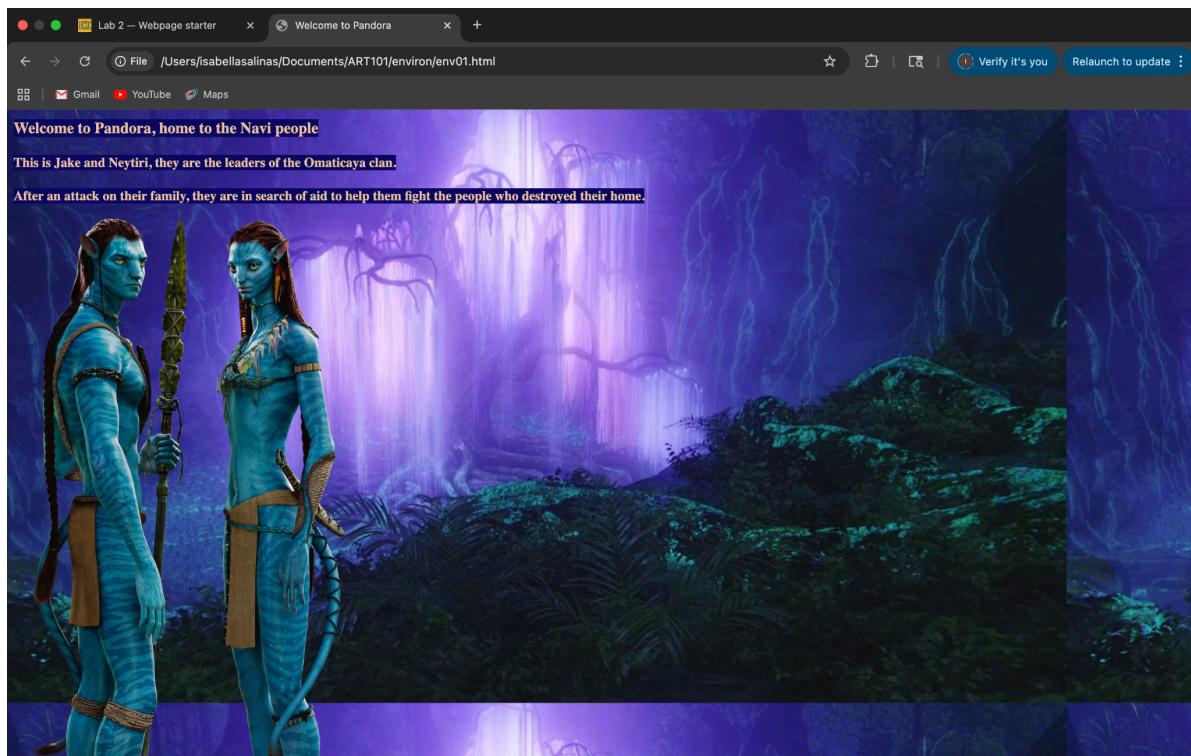

```

2. Site.css

```
ART101
env01.html # env.css images.jpeg ex02.html # ex02.css 1
environ > # env.css > ...
1 BODY
2 {background-image: url("Tree.webp");}
3 H3, H4 {color: #rgb(242, 191, 159); font-family: Impact, }
4 .high1 {background: #rgb(3, 7, 95);}
5
6
7
8 #Navi {width: 400px;}
9
```

3. Resulting page in Chrome

Self Narration:

1. In Task 1 I struggled with inputting the proper code to have the photo appear, but I was able to get help during class and solve that issue.
2. For task 2, I came up with a lot of different concepts; spiderman, a library, some stories based off the books I really like, but I ended up going with Avatar because of the colors and appeal of the characters and world. There were a lot of different things that went wrong at first, the pictures were blurry, and I wasn't sure how to make the photo the background so that things would appear in front of it. I relied a lot on past examples for the coding formulas, specifically on css, for adding color, the boxes around the text, and sizing. The only thing I wasn't able to fix was the sizing of the background so it doesn't cut off on the bottom and right side of the screen.
3. My lab partner, Araceli, helped me so much when I was struggling with the background. It was my main issue and I was just about to give up until she helped me. I really enjoyed working with her.